vulnerable forms ○● vulnerable concepts ○● vulnera nos

Vulvaability

We started with a roar
in the hollow empress
of a cup

light as feathertalk
no gravity
our words danced
easily
through
curtains of smoke
35 (positive changes)
times

fill my cup with emptiness

taste taste taste
this bittersweet space around which my body is wrapped

vulnerable (adj.)

c. 1600, from Late Latin vulnerabilis "wounding," from Latin vulnerare "to wound, hurt, injure, maim," from vulnus (genitive vulneris) "wound," perhaps related to vellere "pluck, to tear" (see svelte), or from PIE **wele-*nes-, from **wele-* (2) "to strike, wound" (see Valhalla).
